China-Biotics, Inc. Attends National Exchange Seminar on Probiotics and Their Application Techniques

Shanghai, China – September 23, 2009 – China-Biotics, Inc. (NASDAQ: CHBT) (“China-Biotics”, “the Company”), a leading Chinese firm specializing in the manufacture, research, development, marketing and distribution of probiotics products, today announced that it attended in the 2009 National Exchange Seminar on Probiotics and Their Technical Applications (the “National Exchange Seminar”) through September 20-22, in Shenzhen, China.

The Seminar was organized by the State Food and Drug Administration in China (“SFDA”). The keynote presentation topics focused on industry regulation and standards of probiotics applications, probiotics function and human health, probiotics technical research and product development, and probiotics testing method and devices. Probiotics-based product manufacturers and medical institutions were invited to the Seminar, including BioTime, Nestle China, Yakult China, the National Center for Disease Control and Prevention, Chongqing Medical School, Dalian Medical School, and etc. Kai Ma, PhD., Chief Scientist of China-Biotics, presented the topic of “Probiotics Testing Standards and Industry Standards” at the Seminar. Dr. Ma has long been involved in China’s probiotics application standards proposal drafting activities. Effective June 1, 2009, China’s new umbrella food safety law for the first time included probiotics applications as part of regulated food production throughout China.

“We are very pleased to have attended the National Exchange Seminar to share our experience and expertise with other probiotics specialists,” said Mr. Jinan Song, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of China-Biotics. “We believe that the new food safety law is yet another milestone for our industry since all manufacturers now have to produce under much more stringent standards. As a leading probiotics provider, China-Biotics has already set strict internal standards in its manufacturing procedures that are higher than the national level.”
